

THE TOP 50 QURAN MEMORIZATION APPS THE COMMUNITY IS USING

1. Tarteel

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Web App

Premium Features: Mistake detection, mistake history, advanced memorization mode (hide the words), multiple challenges, and session playback.

Pricing: Free trial, $9.99/m (1 month), $7.50/m (12 months), $250 (lifetime)

This is by far the most mentioned app in the community! I remember first seeing this in 2018/2019 and the project has come a long way since. Tarteel uses machine learning (artificial intelligence) that listens to your recitation and detects your mistakes. Their tech also powers the voice search on the amazing quran.com (which some of you also use for your hifz). The premium features are great. Mistake detection is a work in progress. Mistakes are found at the word level, not letters (hurūf), diacritics (i'jām / harakāt), or tajwīd. The mistakes that are picked up, as a result, can be too sensitive. I couldn't get past the Fātiha, no matter what I did.

2. Al Muqri'

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Web App

Features: 18 different reciters to choose from, Play specific sets of āyāt or a sūrah. View the āyah, the 15-lined 'uthmānī page alongside the translation.

Pricing: Free

This is an often mentioned app and one that is easily accessible. I often recommend this app because it has Dr. Ayman al-Suwaid included in the audio list. The team behind this have also built some other amazing apps for recitation, tafsīr, learning Arabic, memorising and testing your Qur'an or texts like Muqaddimat al-Jazariyyah.

3. Memorize Quran

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: Memorize āyah by āyah, select a range of ayahs, repeat single ayah, add delays, select a range, translations (a great range), big font sizes, different reciters, Tafseer, and a revision mode.

Pricing: Free trial (14 days), £0.99/m, £4.99 for 6 months, £9.49/y, £28.49 (Lifetime)

The dev, brother Shoaib has done a great job here. This has a great range of features perfect for memorization. They have something called the 'Intellij Mode' that makes the process more convenient. You can set repetition amounts for new āyāt, pauses, and repeat times for the set. A really nice app.

4. MemorizeQuran.app

Platform: May be accessed from your desktop, tablet, mobile phone, television, and other devices. Compatible on most platforms including Android, iOS, Windows, Linux, and more. To install, simply “Add to Home Screen” via pop-up or via Browser Menu. Yes! It's that simple. No App Stores are involved.

Features: Verse by verse playback by over 50 reciters. Looping. Quran Reading Mode and follow the Reciter. Speed control.

Pricing: Free, no ads!

This comes to us through the team at Muslim Central and comes with basic features that come with any other app. The great thing about this is that it's free, totally ad-free, and can be used on any device.

5. Al Muhafiz

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: A-B repeat, āyah highlighting, touch play, highlight mistakes, hide āyahs, self-testing, download what you need, and 3 reciters to choose from.

Pricing: Free

Another app that was mentioned a number of times in the community. This app has everything you'd need but the downside is that it's restricted to one type of script.

6. With The Qur'an

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: 3 Mus'haf selections, audio, hifz tests, hifz tracking, comments, notations, and annotations that can be filtered and tagged, word meanings, highlighting, and assigning students.

Pricing: Free

From the get-go, I was really impressed by this one. The onboarding process starts with a mus'haf selection (King Fahad copies, and the Madani Indo-Pak). The feature-rich app is a perfect way to get going with your hifz.

7. Quran Majeed

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: Feature heavy with Quran (4 script choices), reciters, translation, tafsīr, prayer times and qibla direction, and additional apps and settings.

Pricing: Free, 3 days free trial, £0.89/m, £7.49/y, £11.49 (Lifetime)

This app has a lot going on! Plastered with ads and jampacked with different features. Although this was one of the apps mentioned, it's not an app I would recommend for the purposes that we are seeking. I would place Muslim Pro in the same category - which was another mentioned app by the community.

8. Muslim Pal

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: Feature heavy with widgets, audio, qibla direction, prayer times, memorization progress, and more.

Pricing: Free, In-app purchases (£1.69 - £28.49)

This app took a long time to load on my device and was stuck on load. As a result, i didn't get to test this one. It's a shame but being a multi-tiered app with ads, just like Quran Majeed - it's not one I would recommend.

9. Quran Hive

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Web App

Features: Quran (2 scripts), size adjustment, translations, reciters, memorise mode, tafseer (written and audio by Nouman Ali Khan).

Pricing: Free

This app has some great features especially around understanding the Qur'ān. It can prove to be particularly useful for this purpose.

10. Ayat - Al Quran

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Web App

Features: KSA King Fahd Quran, translations, repeating, reciters, memorizing test (blank pages), and tafseer.

Pricing: Free

Those of you that recite using this particular mus'haf will find this app useful. I found that it can be slightly buggy and you can't read offline (Android).

11. BeHafizh

Platform: Google Play

Features: Memorization tracking, memorization test, listening to an audio question and answering it, color indicators for memorization quality, audio (3 reciters), play a range, add delay and repetition

Pricing: Free

Based only on the 'uthmānī script, this app has some great features and allows you to focus on an āyah at a time. You tick each āyah off as you go along. It lacks the mus'haf view and features available in other apps but it's a great app that allows you to focus on the matter at hand.

12. Quran University

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Website

Features: Multilingual, Tajweed 'Uthmānī script, audio, teacher and student relationship, assignments and exams, and more.

Pricing: Free (self-study), payment plans with teachers (minimum or premium) according to the website

When using this there's an onboarding process that requires you to have an account. There are two: a student and a teacher. The good thing is that you can access the app as a guest. It allows you to record your recitation as an assignment and have it checked by a teacher directly. There are also contests. This is a great feature. The UX/UI isn't great at all.

13. Quran Pro

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Website

Features: Font adjustments, high-quality audio, offline listening, cross devices, and more.

Pricing: Free, and Premium plans: £5.99/m (no free trial), £26.49/y (3 days free trial), £71.99 lifetime

This has been one of the best app experiences and design (UX/UI) so far. Has a great varied selection of reciters. You can select three types of 'uthmānī scripts (in Mus'haf view). It feels more of an app that's dedicated to high-quality audio. You can follow a recitation alongside written text. A great app, but lacks the features you can get elsewhere that are needed for memorization.

14. Quran

Platform: App Store, Google Play ('uthmāni), Google Play (Naskh -Indopak), Web App
Features: Audio, bookmarking pages, and verses, tagging verses, translations, tafseer, multilingual, import/export, dual page mode.
Pricing: Free!

No such list would be complete without Quran.com. It's fantastic and always getting better. They also have Android apps for Qaloon and Warsh. I have used the Naskh version of the app for many years without a problem. A great option.

15. Mus'haf al-Madinat al-Nabawiyyat (Hafs)

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Desktop
Features: Hi-Res, bookmarking, zoom in/out, quick search, audio looping, translations, explanation of words, and Tafseer.
Pricing: Free!

This one left me slightly confused because the version of the app that I downloaded (مصحف المدينة النبوية) doesn't seem to appear on the Play Store. As for my experiences on the one I had, the page quality is amazing. You could change the interface language to English. I would like to see a more diverse range of reciters and more access to English explanations. However, when downloading the version now found in the store - I had a different experience. If you don't know Arabic, you'll have a difficult time.

16. Quran Companion

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Website

Features: Challenges, motivation, social leaderboards and groups, memorization plans with guided lessons, Madina/Uthmani scripts, dashboard analytics to see your progress, hasanat calculations, reading mode, and memorization mode (highlighting, hiding/swiping, audio, recording, translation).

Pricing: Free and Premium: £1.89 - £38.49

Quran Academy was getting somewhere with this app back in 2016/2017, with a great UI/UX and unique features. But there have been no updates or focus on the app since 2018. As a result, many are experiencing bugs and have felt they've wasted money. The app is literally of no use if you don't have a premium. While they have a great reader and Academy TV to learn Arabic, it's a shame they couldn't sustain work on the apps. I believe they would have been my go-to app if they had.

17. Al Quran Memoriser

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Website

Features: Quran reading from Madani Mushaf. Ability to Change memorisation Status of Ayah. Ability to log word and ayah notes. Several downloadable recitations for verse by verse recital. Testing: ayah matcher, word matcher tests. Quick show/hide ayahs for quick memorisation checking.

Pricing: Free!

This is a great app choice. You can mark mistakes and comments. has a great audio player and you can hide verses and touch them to have them appear. I particularly enjoyed seeing the test section. The ayah matcher tests how much you remember sequence-wise. So it'll give you random ayah to select and you have to complete the sequence. The word matcher is like a word puzzle. You have to put an ayah together using the choices provided. The ayah finder is where you guess the location of an ayah. These are great tests and additions to the app. What would make this even better was if it had more mus'haf selections available.

18. El-Mohafez

Platform: App Store, Google Play, Website (desktop versions)

Features: Audio, playback speed, tafseer, translation, multilingual, progress tracking, 'uthmani script, 16 different riwāyah, 15 reciters, memorise hadith, tajweed texts, highlighting, drawing, and note-taking.

Pricing: Free!

This is an app with some great features such as the different riwāyāt (transmissions of the variant readings of the Qur'ān) but it defaults to an Arabic interface, so you'd need to know some Arabic to get around and change the settings to English. The onboarding process was slightly off-putting.

19. Quran Word by Word

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: Audio (word by word), repeat (0-5), 'Uthmani script with transliteration

Pricing: Free!

This is an app with a focus on audio and is a great app for those who need a slow recitation that breaks down things word by word. It would benefit from having translation and more repeat options.

20. Memorise Quran

Platform: Google Play

Features: Audio, flash card format, set individual ayah repetition number, Hasanat score count, memorisation tester (recording), reciter selection.

Pricing: Free!

This is a new app just launched in March 2023. It's a brilliant effort but would improve with Qur'an reader views.

21. Quran Mobasher

Platform: App Store, Google Play

Features: Audio, playback, recording, 1-on-1 teacher interactions.

Pricing: Free!

This is an app that I am excited about. Quran Mobasher is the first mobile app that allows students to learn Quran for free with qualified teachers. The premise is that you can log on any time and recite to a live teacher for free either via video or audio call. You have to select teachers and exchange messages. You can favourite teachers and make appointments. It is being used to correct recitation, memorisation and teaching children. The one downside is that the teachers are predominantly Arab and so there can be language barriers for some teachers. I did have an English speaking student try it and she was able to recite and have a good session with a female teacher!

If they can add English to it then it looks like an app with some great features (learning Tajweed and much more).
