

A simple line drawing of a watering can. It has a long spout on the left and a handle on the right. A rectangular label is attached to the front of the can with a small pin or string at the top. The label is blank.

